Teens rank parents as the #1 influence on their sexual decisions – they need your guidance on sexuality whether or not they ask. We're here to help you start the conversation.

October is National Family Sexuality Education Month.

Parents and those caring for children of any age are invited to join Planned Parenthood at a workshop to learn when and how to talk with children about sexuality and how to answer their questions.

Activities include: discussion of childhood sexual development, deciding which values to share, and skill building around communication and answering questions.

Visit www.ppgnw.org/familiesaretalking to discover how your group or organization can host a workshop or email Education@ppgnw.org for more information.
